ABOUT

Ramiro Marziani is an artist, guitarist, composer and a leader of the instrumental trio Marziani, where the realms of Jazz, Latin American Folk Rock n' Roll coexist.

After a debut album in 2018 titled "The Martian's Playground" and a guitar-led meditation album released in 2020 called "Cielito Blue", Marziani's latest EP "From a Living Room in Brooklyn" and their live concerts define the unique and enticing sound that identifies him. Currently active in the NYC Jazz and Indie club scene, Marziani explores melody and improvisation through compelling original music, arrangements of timeless songs, and a fresh live concert experience.

Ramiro Marziani comes all the way from Mendoza, Argentina: The land of sunlight and Malbec wine. An exciting and in-demand musician based in New York City, he develops his craft as a touring guitarist and composer. His guitar playing has taken him all over, from Prague to San Francisco, Paris to Colombia, and beyond. In addition, he writes original music for visual media and commercial use. He has, among many other things, recorded a Tiny Desk, headlined at Glastonbury Festival and produced 3 records. Marziani is a growing presence in music and entertainment.
